

Name: George Dafoulas

Country: United Kingdom

Institution: Middlesex University London

Role: Associate Professor / Director of Programmes

E-mail: G.Dafoulas@mdx.ac.uk

Dr George Dafoulas (Associate Professor / Director of Programmes) – George has managed, led and participated in more than twenty research projects since he joined Middlesex in 2004. His research is driven by developments in the intersection of Information Systems and Human Computer Interaction. More specifically he is interested in the investigation of human aspects in information systems development, effects of computer supported cooperative work in software engineering, and computer mediated communication. He has managed several projects relevant to the this project including a DTI funded knowledge transfer project, various projects funded by JISC and several Erasmus+ CBHE projects. He is the co-author of six books and learning guides while he has participated and managed projects funded under EU frameworks, Erasmus+, NSF, Socrates, Minerva, Tempus, AUNP, ERDF, EPSRC, ESRC, DTI and industrial partners. He is currently leading. He is currently involved with six Erasmus+ projects and one British Council programme.