

Name: Dr. Waleed Salous

Country: Palestine

Institution: Al Quds Open University

Role: Dean of Technology and Applied Sciences Faculty

Email: wsalos@qou.edu

Dr. Waleed Salos is a faculty member at the Technology and Applied Sciences Department at Al-Quds Open University. He obtained his PhD degree in Telecommunications and Information Technology, concentration in wireless communication from Alexandria University in Egypt in 2012. He completed his master degree in Electronics and Communications at the Arab Academy for Science and Technology in Egypt in 1998, and the bachelor degree in Electronics & Communication Engineering from the Department of Electrical Engineering at the Arab Academy for Science and Technology in 1995. Currently, he is the Dean of Technology and Applied Sciences Faculty at QOU. In the previous years, he worked as Head of the Information and Communication Technology Department at QOU for 4 years (From 2012 to 2016). He is also a member in the Program Council at Al-Quds Open University. He served as a Member in several committees: the Scientific Committee of the International Conference on Information & Communications Technology (ICICT'2012), the committee of the Conference on Using Smart Devices and their Impact on Child Reading (23/5/2015), the committee of the Undergraduate Research and Innovation Conference on Engineering and Information Technology 3-4 April 2016. Dr. Salos has excellent organizational and interpersonal skills as well as creative thinking and problem solving skills. Dr. Salos research interests include: telecommunications, mobile, noise reduction and e-learning. He published several research papers in local and international journals.

Dr. Salos is a regular contributor to many national/international conferences and scientific journals. He has more than (16) publications in several wireless communication topics. He is currently working on a research about the use of technology in greenhouse agriculture. His latest book entitled (Digital Communication) which published in 2020.